Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 13 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry for most but cool with frosty nights.

Today:
Most parts dry with sunny spells and light winds, so feeling a touch warmer than recently despite temperatures being below average. A few showers, mainly for central and western areas.

Tonight:
Variable cloud with light winds this evening and overnight, with frost likely for many, particularly in the north and east.

Wednesday:
Dry for most with only a few showers over Wales, the southwest and Northern Ireland. Temperatures below average but feeling pleasant in sunshine in the west.

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Scattered showers for the southeast Thursday and rain at times for the far northwest Friday and Saturday. Elsewhere dry with sunny spells. Some fog in Northern Ireland Thursday morning.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.